- * The Global Language Portfolio's (GLP) Language Passport is an American language model of the Europass Language Passport (© European Communities) found at <http://europass.cedefop.europa.eu>.
-  The self-assessment of language skills is taken either from the self assessment in the language biography or from a validated test correlated to either the rating levels of the American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages (ACTFL) or the rating levels of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR) language passport. The box at the left of each skill allows for recording the skill level
-  At the end of the Language Passport are copyrighted grids outlining both the ACTFL levels and the levels of the Common European Framework. They summarize what can be done at each skill level. The grid referencing the ACTFL levels is used with the permission of the National Council of State Supervisors for Languages (NCSSFL). The grid referencing the Common European Framework is taken from the Europass Language Passport, (© European Communities) found at <http://europass.cedefop.europa.eu>.
